Always Wanted to be an Expert?

Want to send help desk newsletters to your clients so they'll think you're an expert?

Don't have the time to research & write the articles, let alone get the desktop publishing done?

You need FastTips newsletters.

FastTips newsletters are hard-hitting and to-the-point. They're filled with useful computer tips & tricks. Every edition is preprinted with your name, address, and phone number. FastTips make you look smart, and they'll keep your clients begging for more.

Marketing on $2 a Day

FastTips are cheap. They're a heck of a lot less expensive than your futzing around desktop publishing some lame attempt at a newsletter.

Get a life. Get FastTips—newsletters that are professionally written, graphically-superior, and a snap to distribute.

And they cost about two dollars a day.

Order 'em right now, you'll get your first issue tomorrow. Now, go make some sales calls!

Delivered on a Perfect Schedule

FastTips newsletters are delivered as Adobe Acrobat PDFs twice a month. They're ready for you to print, fax, or email to your clients.

Heck, you should even post them to your website for permanent reference!

Marketing Means Business

If you're not already sending support newsletters to your clients on a regular basis, you need FastTips!

Marketing is a serious part of your business operations.

When you're not touching your clients twice a month, guess who is.
